

Aikaterini Nompilaki

Brief Curriculum Vitae

Lecturer at the Department of Agribusiness and Supply Chain Management, of the Applied Economics and Social Sciences School, of the Agricultural University of Athens, (AUA).

Her academic subject is "Informatics Applications in Management".

From 2019 until today, she teaches in the Agribusiness and Supply Chain Management, of the Applied Economics and Social Sciences School, of the Agricultural University of Athens, (AUA).

From 2017 to January 2019 she taught as an Applications Professor in the Department of Supply Systems Management, School of Management & Economics, of TEI of Central Greece.

In the years 2015-2016 and 2016-2017 she taught at the Public I.E.K. Agios Stefanos, in the Financial & Administrative Executive department, specialty courses.

From 1999 to 2013, she taught as a part-time teacher at the TEI of Chalkida, in the School of Management and Economics, in the departments of Business Administration and Accounting & Finance (formerly Accounting), the courses "Computer Applications in Management", "Introduction to Informatics", "Informatics I" and "Informatics II".

She is a certified adult trainer, from EOPPEP.

She holds a Bachelor Degree from TEI of Athens, in Business Administration and a Master Degree from PADA University, in Information Management in Libraries, Archives, Museums

She has attended and completed an IT training program of the National Kapodistrian University of Athens, EKPA, as well as an IT course, ECDL, (Basic IT Concepts, Computer Use and File Management, Word Processing, Spreadsheets, Databases, Presentations, Information and Communication), in a private institute.

She has attended and completed a Public Relations course at the private French-speaking Saint George College, as well as Administrative Executives-Secretary courses at a private school.

She attended part of the Business Administration department at the American University, DEREK.

She has a BA in English from the University of Cambridge.

She has many years of professional experience in the private sector in the multinational company, Societe Generale de Surveillance S.A., (S.G.S.) in an administrative position.